Easter: Christians Celebrating Abomination

Many of you probably remember the routine of getting out your best neck ties and dresses for the Easter Sunday Service. Some folks even have specific Easter clothes they only get out once a year for Easter Sunday. I've studied my Bible for many years, and I don't recall ever reading about the early church honoring specific days in which they all made sure to dress their best, and sing special songs, and have Easter eggs hunts afterwards, so where does all this tradition come from, and why is it treated with so much reverence?

The typical church-goer answer to this question is summed up very well by about.com: "On Easter Sunday, Christians celebrate the resurrection of the Lord, Jesus Christ. It is typically the most well-attended Sunday service of the year for Christian churches."

(Photos taken during, or on the way to, Easter Sunday Services.)

None of these people are Christians. Why are they attending Easter Sunday Services together?

It's true, Easter Sunday is the most well-attended Sunday service for "Christian" churches around the world, but the truth is that most people the world ONLY attend Easter services. For many people, it's a fashion statement that they believe will get them into heaven, and the all-inclusive new-age church buildings welcome them into their leavened, pagan services with open arms.

Christians Answers, a 501c3 "ministry" for children, teaches young boys and girls why believe Christians supposedly celebrate Easter:

"As Christians, we celebrate Easter for entirely different reasons than most people do. You see, about two thousand years ago, God sent His only Son, Jesus, to live a perfect life, and to die for our sins! But Jesus did not stay dead; He rose from the dead! We are actually celebrating Jesus’ death for our sins and His resurrection. That is why many people call Easter, Resurrection Sunday, because that is exactly what it is."

I found this answer to be fascinating because they specifically said that Christians celebrate Easter for different reasons than MOST people. In most countries, Easter has been spread by influence of the Roman Catholic Church, and since Catholicism itself is a pagan religion that feigns itself to be about the Lord Jesus Christ, it should be no wonder that the most countries just uphold the pagan bunny and eggs rituals.

A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.
- Matthew 7:18

This article will demonstrate the foundations of Easter, where the traditions came from, and why. There is a reason why so much paganism comes with the holiday. When church-goers are practicing things in their church buildings that are directly associated with paganism and witchcraft, and is well-received by the world, we need to get our facts straight so we can get right with the Lord Jesus Christ and His Word.

Little children, keep yourselves from idols. Amen.
- 1 John 5:21

If ye love me, keep my commandments.
- John 14:15

Lest Satan should get an advantage of us: for we are not ignorant of his devices.
- 2 Corinthians 2:11

The worship of the sun god is a key point in the traditions of European/North American witches and sorcerers, and the rebirth of the sun god is celebrated in the spring when the warmth of the sun returns. This is called the Spring Equinox, because it is the mid-point between the solstices, the longest and shortest day of the year.

Though the average church-goer realizes that Easter does not take place on March 21st every year, and makes attempts to disconnect paganism and witchcraft from Easter because of that fact, very few of them realize why the date bounces around so much.

"Ostara (circa March 21), the spring equinox, also known as spring, Rites of Spring, and Eostra's Day, marks the first day of true spring... On Ostara the hours of day and night are equal. Light is overtaking darkness; the Goddess and God impel the wild creatures of the earth to reproduce... Traces of this old custom are even found in Christianity. Easter, for example, is placed on Sunday following the first full moon after the spring equinox, a rather 'pagan' way to organize religious rites."

- Scott Cunningham, Wicca, Llewellyn Worldwide, 2010, ISBN: 9780738717159; Cunningham practiced witchcraft for over twenty years, and even after his death in 1993, is still highly regarded as an expert in the craft.

So if you want to find out which day Easter Sunday falls on, simply go find a calendar that shows the waxing and waning of the moon and find the first Sunday following the first full moon after (or on) the 21st of March. The celebration, whether Christians are aware of it or not, is all centered around the pagan worship of the sun god in the spring, and that is a practice that is specifically condemned in the Bible:

Hear the word of the LORD... Your new moons and your appointed feasts my soul hateth: they are a trouble unto me; I am weary to bear them. And when ye spread forth your hands, I will hide mine eyes from you: yea, when ye make many prayers, I will not hear: your hands are full of blood. Wash you, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil;
- Isaiah 1:10-16

But now, after that ye have known God, or rather are known of God, how turn ye again to the weak and beggarly elements, whereunto ye desire again to be in bondage? Ye observe days, and months, and times, and years. I am afraid of you, lest I have bestowed upon you labour in vain.
- Galatians 4:9-11

Paul explained to Galatia that they were not to turn back to the old traditions of the Jews that were appointed by God for them to observe because they were saved by the Lord Jesus Christ and should turn to Him, and nowhere does it in the Bible tell us to turn the to tradition of witches:
For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would. But if ye be led of the Spirit, ye are not under the law. Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, Idolatry, witchcraft... and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God.

-Galatians 5:17-21

Observing the practices of pagan witchcraft is works of the flesh that fight against the Spirit.

-If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit.

-Galatians 5:25

If we live in the Spirit, then we should put away the traditions of pagan witchcraft. Next, we need to address how modern-day Easter ended up being about the full moon instead of the Spring Equinox specifically:

"To this day, Easter Sunday is determined by the ancient lunar calendar system which places the holiday on the first Sunday after the first full moon on or following the Vernal Spring Equinox. (Formally, this marked the 'pregnant' phase of the Triple Goddess passing into the fertile season.)"

As I pointed out earlier, the Roman Catholic Church is key in defining what we see on Easter celebrations in new-age churches today. Rome's function has always been an ecumenical gathering of all the world's religions together under one umbrella, and after Constantine established the Catholic Church for Rome, it began a process of creating Catholic versions (i.e. what the world calls "Christian" versions) of paganism, which was already widely practiced in its government. (Read "Corruptions of Christianity: Catholicism" here at creationliberty.com for more details.)

"The Christian holy day of Easter is named for Her [the Goddess of Paganism], and is observed on the first Sunday after the first full moon following the vernal equinox — when the pregnant Goddess enters the season of fertility."

The pagans were giving praise to their false goddess being pregnant with the sun god she will bring forth, and the Roman Catholics, seeking to copy their new pagan religion after the other pagans, saw a direct correlating between a goddess being pregnant with a god, to the Mary and Jesus. In our article on Catholicism, we demonstrate that the "Mary" of the Catholics is actually the goddess of paganism; they are one and the same, and they are depicted and worshiped in the same way.

Those involved in Wicca understand the symbolism in the Catholic Church very well:

"Many mythological traditions identify the moon as a feminine counterpart to the masculine sun. For this reason, a number of Goddesses are associated with the moon, including Artemis or Diana, Selena, and of course, Luna. Even the 'Goddess' of Christianity, the Virgin Mary, as some associations with the moon under her feet... So, for Witches, the moon is special because it is a powerful symbol of the Goddess, and therefore of women."

These are idols; tributes to false pagan gods.
Wherefore, my dearly beloved, flee from idolatry.
-1 Corinthians 10:14

The following is from a 33-year veteran witch that helps make up Welsh Traditionalist Coven in Missouri, a 501c3 Church of Paganism:

"The major difference between The Goddess and the Blessed Virgin Mary is that The Goddess is a Creatrix in Her Own Right and a source of Divine Power. In Catholicism, Mary is Blessed, unique among women, sinless, The Mother of God - and it is believed that She ascended bodily into Heaven. However, for Catholics, She is supposed to be merely a channel of Power from God, and not a source of Divine Power, Herself. Of course, this is only the official view of the Catholic Church. Many worshipers understand, and have always understood instinctively, if not consciously, that the Blessed Virgin is a modern version of The Goddess; and many Catholic cathedrals are actually built upon the sites of ancient temples to The Great Goddess. For example, St. Peters Cathedral in the Vatican is built right on top of the old temple of The Goddess, Magna Mater, and some parts of the original temple are presumably still left under the foundations."

This is why pagans refer to their goddess as the "Queen of Heaven," and Catholics also refer to Mary as the "Queen of Heaven" -- they are one and the same. The pagans directly connect Yule (i.e. Christmas) to the celebration of the Spring Equinox or Ishtar (Easter), from the birth of their sun god, to his rising up to the heavens.

This same pagan connection between Christmas and Easter is also esteemed by the Catholic Church today:

"Easter is the principal feast of the ecclesiastical year. Leo I (Sermon lxvii in Exordium) calls it the greatest feast (festum festorum), and says that Christmas is celebrated only in preparation for Easter."

The reason everyone gives such reverence to Easter Sunday is because the Roman Catholic Church set the same example the pagans give to the sun god.

You'll notice in the reference that it is called the "Holy Day of Obligation," meaning that you have to participate in it, despite the fact that we read earlier in Scripture that Christians are not to involve themselves in such obligatory practices. This is one of the reasons why you'll see so many wicked people attend an Easter Sunday Mass, because they believe in order to be good Catholics and not have to suffer in purgatory as long, they must, at minimum, attend this once a year.

"When envisioning the Goddess and God, many of the Wicca see them as well-known deities from ancient religions, Diana, Pan, Isis, Hermes, Hina, Tammuz, Hecate, Ishtar, Cerridwen, Thoth, Tara, Aradia, Artemis, Pele, Apollo, Kanaloa, Bridget, Helios, Bran, Lugh, Hera, Cybele, Inanna, Maui, Ea, Athena, Lono, Marduk--the list is virtually endless. Many of these deities, with their corresponding histories, rites and mythic information furnish the concept of deity for Wiccans."

-Scott Cunningham, Wicca, Llewellyn Worldwide, 2010, ISBN: 9780738717159; Cunningham practiced witchcraft for over twenty years, and even after his death in 1993, is still highly regarded as an expert in the craft.

In our Christmas article, we cover thoroughly that the pagans categorization of their gods and goddesses under many different names is a result of the tower of Babel. They all were worshiping the same false pagan god and goddess, until the Lord God separated their languages, and today, they are called by different names depending on the region of the language, but modern pagans understand they are all referring back to the same energy of the universe.

The particular goddess worshipped by witches and pagans at this time of the year go by the following names: Eostra/Eostar/Eostre (Saxon), Ishtar (Sumerian), Ostara (German), Astarte(Greek), and Easter (English). All the names represent the same focal goddess of pagan worship, celebrations, and rituals.
Easter is the name of their pagan goddess.

Because that they have forsaken me, and have worshipped Ashtoreth the goddess of the Zidonians...

-1 Kings 11:33

Now when these things were done, the princes came to me, saying, The people of Israel, and the priests, and the Levites, have not separated themselves from the people of the lands, doing according to their abominations, even of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Amorites.

-Ezra 9:1

In the Bible, God gave Israel strict instructions not to follow after the wicked abominations of the Canaanites. The gods and goddesses that Christians are honoring by celebrating Easter are the very same gods and goddesses the Canaanites worshipped, and witches seem to understand this concept better than most church-goers today.

"Images of the Goddess...offer silent testimony to the most ancient worship of the Queen of heaven in the land that is most often remembered today as the homeland of Judaism and Christianity. In exploring the influence and importance of the worship of the Goddess in Canaan in biblical times, we find that as Ashtoreth, Asherah, Astarte, Anath, or simply as Elat or Baalat, she was the principal deity of such great Canaanite cities as Tyre, Sidon, Ascalon, Beth Anath, Aphaca, Byblos, and Ashtoreth Kamaim."

For Solomon went after Ashtoreth the goddess of the Zidonians, and after Milcom the abomination of the Ammonites.

-1 Kings 11:5

And the high places that were before Jerusalem, which were on the right hand of the mount of corruption, which Solomon the king of Israel had builded for Ashtoreth the abomination of the Zidonians...

-2 Kings 23:13

Solomon, during his fall from righteousness and wisdom, worshipped, and built temples to, the goddess "Ashtoreth," which is another form of the goddess name "Astarte," which is another form of the goddess "Ishtar," which are all names for Semiramis, the Babylonian Queen worshiped as a goddess from which all this began. It's also interesting to note that during Solomon's turning to the pagan fertility goddess, and worshipping her, he gathered unto himself many foreign, pagan, and promiscuous women, never having enough to satisfy the lust he adopted from the "fertility goddess."

But king Solomon loved many strange women, together with the daughter of Pharaoh, women of the Moabites, Ammonites, Edomites, Zidonians, and Hittites; Of the nations concerning which the LORD said unto the children of Israel, Ye shall not go in to them, neither shall they come in unto you: for surely they will turn away your heart after their gods: Solomon clave unto these in love. And he had seven hundred wives, princesses, and three hundred concubines: and his wives turned away his heart.

-1 Kings 11:1-3

We also discussed in our Christmas article that Nimrod (Babylonian King) was claimed to be the sun god, and his sexual intercourse with his mother (Semiramis) was a pregnancy that claimed to reproduce Nimrod in a new body under the name Tammuz.

He said also unto me, Turn thee yet again, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they do. Then he brought me to the door of the gate of the LORD'S house which was toward the north; and, behold, there satwomen weeping for Tammuz.

-Ezekiel 8:13-14
They claim they weep for Jesus, but that's just the name they're using. Their idol is actually Tammuz, an abomination unto God.

In pagan culture, Tammuz dies, which represents the cold of the winter, but then he is reborn in the spring, and the goddess will give birth again at Christmas nine months later.

"The words Easter and oestrogen (estrogen) were derived from the Anglo-Saxon 'Ostara,' goddess of fertility. Night and day stand in perfect balance, with the powers of light on the ascent... The God of the Waxing Year confirms his Yuletide victory over his twin, the Lord of the Waning Year. The Goddess in her Maiden aspect is wooed by the young sun god's embraces and conceives a child. The child will be born nine months from now at the next winter solstice."

The real origin of Easter is the ritual celebration of the conception of the sun god (Tammuz) through his mother (Semiramus), and the ONLY connection that has to the Gospel of Jesus Christ is through the propaganda and unholy abomination of the Roman Catholic Church through their ecumenical movement. This is no different than what Israel did in the days of the prophets in the Old Testament books, and typical Christian's excuse is that because they believe on Jesus, therefore they can celebrate paganism, and God is okay with that, but that's exactly the excuse Israel used to make as well.

Behold, ye trust in lying words, that cannot profit. Will ye steal, murder, and commit adultery, and swear falsely, and burn incense unto Baal, and walk after other gods whom ye know not; And come and stand before me in this house, which is called by my name, and say, We are delivered to do all these abominations? Is this house, which is called by my name, become a den of robbers in your eyes? Behold, even I have seen it, saith the LORD.

-Jeremiah 7:8-11

Church-goers today are typically following after the lying words of preachers who encourage their pagan celebrations, honoring false gods, claiming they are delivered by Jesus Christ, so therefore they are justified to live like the Devil. Most church-goers have their hearts set on finding an excuse in Scripture, rather than having to admit what they do is wrong; for example:

I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world,

- John 17:15

So the church-goer will whine to keep their pagan practices, saying they just have to live in this world, but they ignore the second part of that verse:

I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou shouldest keep them from the evil. They are not of the world, even as I am not of the world. Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth. As thou hast sent me into the world, even so have I also sent them into the world. And for their sakes I sanctify myself, that they also might be sanctified through the truth.

- John 17:15-19

Sanctification means to set apart, and we are supposed to set ourselves apart from the ways of the world; from the witchcraft and paganism of the heathen.

Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works.

- Titus 2:14

We can't be a peculiar people if we are participating in the same pagan practices of the world. We should be zealous to stay away from such wicked celebrations.

Most people around the world know that when you think of Easter, the first thing you think of is not Jesus Christ -- it's rabbits and eggs, and most churches across the country participate in those rituals; I've been to a number of them myself. From the Easter bunny in shopping malls, to the advertising on television, rabbits and eggs are the heart of this holiday. Since there is nothing in the Bible concerning Jesus Christ in correlation with rabbits and eggs, then the source of this symbol is not coming from Scripture, and so we need to do some investigation to find out where this connection came from, and why the rabbit/egg symbol is significant.
"Ostara--March 20-23... This is the Spring Equinox, known also as Ostara, or Eostar. It's the time of balance, when light and dark are equal and the Earth swells with new life. In ancient times, people celebrated the arrival of spring, and the Goddess of Eostar, or Eostre, whose symbols were the egg and the hare, both representations of the Great Mother... Traditional symbols of this Sabbat are eggs, lambs, chicks, and rabbits--all symbolic of the Goddess in her 'mother' aspect. Eggs are considered a symbol of the universe itself, with the shell representing earth; the membrane, air; the yolk, fire; and the white, water. An ancient Ostara custom was to dye eggs red, the color of life-force and regeneration. Other traditional colors of this Sabbat are silver and penny-candy pastels."

The symbol of the lamb in the Easter celebration is drawn directly from pagan tradition. The Catholic Church sees the Bible use the metaphor of the Lamb of God, and then merges pagan symbolism in with it for an unholy abomination.

"Lamb Amulet: To increase fertility or to fill your home with peace, use an amulet in the shape of a lamb (the symbol of fertility and peace)."

Again, remember the goal of Rome was to combine everything under one ecumenical umbrella, and so the Pope sees the pagan symbol of the lamb connected with peace, and Lamb of God being the prince of peace, so he combines the concepts into one. The world is completely deceived by the Catholic Church, so much that they participate in this pagan celebration, thinking that it's of God, when it's not. The pagan traditions originated in Babylon, and Rome brings those Babylonian traditions into an unholy abomination in their wicked church, wearing their robes of purple and scarlet, and drinking from a golden cup that claims to be the propitiation for sins, and that's why the Bible calls it MYSTERY BABYLON.

(Read "Corruptions of Christianity: Catholicism - A Woman Rides the Beast" here at creationliberty.com for more details.)

So he carried me away in the spirit into the wilderness: and I saw a woman sit upon a scarlet coloured beast, full of names of blasphemy, having seven heads and ten horns. And the woman was arrayed in purple and scarlet colour, and decked with gold and precious stones and pearls, having a golden cup in her hand full of abominations and filthiness of her fornication: And upon her forehead was a name written, MYSTERY, BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS AND ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH.

-Revelation 17:3-5

In the Gospel, the Lamb of God is name for the metaphor of Christ being a pure sacrifice for the sins of man. In paganism, the lamb is an actual symbol they use to represent their god.

"For Wiccans, lambs are symbols of the cute and fluffy, of innocence and of youthful energies. In the early Spring, it's appropriate to symbolize our God as a lamb--so long as we remember that lambs do mature, and the males become rams, just as our God matures and takes on the more assertive and lusty aspects we associate with male sheep."

-Ashleen O'Gaea, Celebrating the Seasons of Life: Samhain to Ostara, Career Press, 2004, p. 139-140, ISBN: 9781564147318; O'Gaea is a member of the Tuscon Area Wiccan-Pagan Network and has a Wiccan prison ministry.

In the Bible, the Lord God is never represented by a symbol (and that includes the cross symbol on so many churches):

"Forasmuch then as we are the offspring of God, we ought not to think that the Godhead is like unto gold, or silver, or stone, graven by art and man's device."

-Acts 17:29
Of course, the average church-goer is going to try to make excuses like, "It doesn't mean paganism to me!" or, "They may have been a long time ago, but now it's about Jesus!" I honestly don't care what someone's personal opinion is about Easter, and I don't care how they feel about their traditions; I want to know what the Bible says.

A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.
- Matthew 7:18

Making the word of God of none effect through your tradition, which ye have delivered: and many such like things do ye.
- Mark 7:13

And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them... But all things that are reproved are made manifest by the light: for whatsoever doth make manifest is light.
- Ephesians 5:11-13

And these church-goers treat their Easter egg hunts with the same "ho-hum" approach:

"Culturally speaking, we see public Easter egg hunts and games designed to promote community. Why not? After all, not only are those eggs a symbol of animal fertility associated with this Holiday, but the very practice of hunting those eggs comes from the ancient practice of hunting for eggs and nuts to be given as gifts of fertility... What better way of sharing the true Pagan meaning of this celebration with our children?"

There are no egg metaphors in the Gospel of Jesus Christ concerning His resurrection and salvation; therefore, it's obvious that it comes from a source of mankind, not of God. It's not difficult to see that Easter eggs are a representation of fertility in pagan traditions, and the hunting of those eggs to honor pagan gods.

But rabbits don't lay eggs, so how does the Easter bunny connect?

"Easter, like nearly every Christian [i.e. Catholic] religious holiday, is rich with an abundance of Pagan overtones, customs, and traditions such as Easter eggs and the Easter bunny. Eggs, as previously mentioned, were ancient fertility symbols and offerings to the goddess of the Pagans. The hare was a symbol of rebirth and resurrection, and was a sacred animal to many lunar goddesses in both western and eastern cultures, including the goddess Ostara, whose escort was a rabbit."

Ostara, again, is another name for Easter, and the escort of that goddess is a rabbit.

"Eggs and rabbits are sacred to Her [Ostara]... Pagan Anglo-Saxons made offerings of colored eggs to Her at the Vernal Equinox. They placed them at graves especially, probably as a charm of rebirth. (Egyptians and Greeks were also known to place eggs at gravesites)... Rabbits are sacred to Ostara, especially white rabbits, and She was said to be able to take the form of a rabbit."

-RavynStar, "Goddess Ostara," Mar 17, 2012, retrieved Feb 25, 2015, [journeyingtothegoddess.wordpress.com/2012/03/17/goddess-ostara]; RavynStar is a practicing witch who serves in Army Reserve National Guard; image by deviantart user "UnholyVault"

"The Easter Bunny had it origins with the legend of the Germanic Goddess Eostre. The small field rabbit wished with all its heart to please this Goddess. As a show of his devotion, he decorated the sacred eggs with bright colors and intricate patterns and then humbly presented them to his beloved Goddess. She was so pleased with the bunny's beautiful work, that she wished all of humankind to join in and share her joy! Since that day, the Eostre (Easter) rabbit has gone throughout the world carrying out her wishes, and delivering little..."
decorated gifts of life."

The reason rabbits have so commonly been a symbol of fertility in pagan customs is because rabbits have a unique ability to get pregnant twice at the same time, or in other words, a female can be pregnant with one litter, mate with a male, and start a second pregnancy in the middle of the first gestation period. This is also why the rabbit symbol has been in used in other places, like Playboy Magazine, as a symbol of fertility in fornication.

If these symbols are supposedly "Christian" and "all about Jesus" according to the average American church-goer, why is it that it's celebrated by the fictional witches of the Harry Potter novels? In the novels, the characters give and receive easter eggs and wish each other "Happy Easter," and it's done in multiple books in that series.

A born-again Christian should have nothing to do with these pagan traditions. Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his. And, Let every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity... If a man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honour, sanctified, and meet for the master's use, and prepared unto every good work.
-2 Timothy 2:19-21

It needs to be emphasized that Easter is a pagan practice of a false religion, and church-goers everywhere rebel against the Word of God so they can keep their traditions. If a preacher stood up in one of these church buildings and encouraged people to pray on prayer mats facing Mecca in honor of the resurrection of Jesus Christ, there would be outraged because most people know that to be an Islamic practice, but where they would reject the practices of the pagan religion of Islam, they have no problem accepting the pagan practices of Wicca. They stubbornly cling to pagan tradition because many of these could care less about the Word of God.

(Read "Islam: Religion of Terror" here at creationliberty.com for more details.)

The typical church-goer response is "Well, I don't see it that way," or "But I think it's just about," -- stop right there. These people claim that the Bible is their final authority in all matters of faith and practice, but the truth is that what they see and what they think is their final authority in all matters of faith and practice; they're called hypocrites and liars. No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other.
-Matthew 6:24

Most church-goers, even if they learn the truth of this, wouldn't dare question their church building's practices on it for fear of upsetting anyone, or worse, being shunned out for teaching the truth. So instead, they ride the fence on the issue, making excuses for others, and becoming lukewarm, just as Christ described the Laodicean church.

And unto the angel of the church of the Laodiceans write; These things saith the Amen, the faithful and true witness, the beginning of the creation of God; I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hot: I would thou wert cold or hot. So then because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spue thee out of my mouth.
-Revelation 3:14-15
This information on Easter was not hard to find, it just takes time to study out the matter. But despite how easy it is to find this information, most church buildings still participate in it because it's just easier to do what the world is doing, going whichever way the wind is blowing, than to have to fight the good fight of faith.

That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive;

- Ephesians 4:14

Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses.

- 1 Timothy 6:12

"EGG is the source of life and the concealment of mystery... Eggs are also symbols of rebirth and regeneration. Along with the hare, the egg appears as a symbol in the cult of Ostara, a spring goddess. These figures were later adopted into the Easter celebration of Christianity as the "Easter Bunny" and decorated eggs.

Among the Druids was a belief in the Cosmic Egg of the Serpent, symbolized by the sea-urchin fossil. The connection of the egg and the serpent appears earlier among the ancient Egyptians as the Cosmic Egg of the Sun god Ra. The theme also appears in Greek mythology related to the egg of Orphism, where the egg is the symbol of the mystery of life, creation, and resurrection."

Thus saith the LORD, Learn not the way of the heathen, and be not dismayed at the signs of heaven; for the heathen are dismayed at them.

-Jeremiah 10:2

(Grace Baptist Church in Alabama, 2012; over 23,000 occult symbols were used in honor of the sun god and spring goddess, but no rebuke coming from the church's leadership.)

Over 23,000 eggs--do you realize how much time, effort, and money this church has wasted on witchcraft? The costs and manpower to prepare and clean up this pagan mess is ridiculous when we consider the thousands everyday dying and going to hell with their hopes in false doctrine.

We can't teach children about the sanctification of the Lord Jesus Christ when we're immersing ourselves into the traditions of witches.

I found out that Living Hope Church in Indiana is having a 300,000 egg hunt.

"At LHC we don't want community to just be part of our name, but we want it to embody the culture of who we are as a church. We are passionate about sharing Christ's love through our actions, caring for one another, and positively impacting our community. That is the driving force behind everything we do."

Where in the Bible did Christ tell us to be charitable to homeless by providing for them bouncy houses and face painting, and to arrange helicopters to dump candy for the sick? But of course, it's all for Jesus, right? They're doing this in honor of pagan witchcraft, and they try to say it's of God.
Thou shalt not take the name of the LORD thy God in vain; for the LORD will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain.
-Exodus 20:7

But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men.
-Matthew 15:9

If we look into the word origins of Easter, we find some more interesting connections to the Roman Catholic pagan traditions that new-age churches have adopted.

easter (n): Anglo-Saxon Christians [i.e. Catholics] adopted her [i.e. Ostara's] name and many of the celebratory practices for their Mass of Christ's resurrection. Ultimately related to east. Almost all neighboring languages use a variant of Latin Pascha to name this holiday (see paschal). Easter eggattested by 1825, earlier pace egg (1610s).

east (n): Old English east "east, easterly, eastward," from Proto-Germanic *aus-to-, *austria- "east, toward the sunrise"

Easter comes from the root word east, which is a reference to where the sun rises because this is a celebration of the pagan sun god's conception. Christian churches have "sunrise services," in honor of Easter (i.e. Semiramis's pregnancy with Tammuz), believing they are giving honor to Jesus, when they are actually committing abomination in the sight of God.

Christians get up very early on night of the full moon (symbol of the pagan goddess), and gather together on their church grounds to face the sun, and have a worship service while watching the sun god appear over the horizon. This is a heathen tradition that the Bible has condemned as abomination.

He said also unto me, Turn thee yet again, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they do. Then he brought me to the door of the gate of the LORD'S house which was toward the north; and, behold, there sat women weeping for Tammuz. Then said he unto me, Hast thou seen this, O son of man? turn thee yet again, and thou shalt see greater abominations than these. And he brought me into the inner court of the LORD'S house, and, behold, at the door of the temple of the LORD, between the porch and the altar, were about five and twenty men, with their backs toward the temple of the LORD, and their faces toward the east; and they worshipped the sun toward the east. Then he said unto me, Hast thou seen this, O son of man? Is it a light thing to the house of Judah that they commit the abominations which they commit here? for they have filled the land with violence, and have returned to provoke me to anger:
-Ezekiel 8:13-17

Just as the Jews in the days of the prophets did not take idolatry seriously, so too church-goers today don't take it seriously. Are not God and Jesus Christ one and the same? How can someone claim to be a Christian, and claim this sunrise service practice to be of Jesus Christ, when Jesus Christ says this is an abomination?

If ye love me, keep my commandments.

Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall. There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it. Wherefore, my dearly beloved, flee from idolatry.

"I love coming up here on my horse, and being here Easter morning is just beautiful," Lydia said... Missy Haury, Carlene Raczynski and Rich Raczynski, who attend Calvary Chapel of Gridley, kept their eyes focused on the horizon while taking in the beautiful morning. The 30-minute service featured seven pastors and a worship team that sang songs of praise for Jesus Christ. 'God touched my heart this morning,' Chin Noyes said after wiping away a tear and singing 'Amazing Grace.'"

What chance does the Word of God in competition with the waves of emotion these people get in their hearts?

The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked: who can know it?
-Jeremiah 17:9

And I'm sure the people who attend this would be angry with me when reading this, claiming that they are really worshiping God with their songs and melodies, but again, my Bible says:
I hate, I despise your feast days, and I will not smell in your solemn assemblies... Take thou away from me the noise of thy songs; for I will not hear the melody of thy viols.
-Amos 5:23

Why is it that so many church-goers think that after the Lord God sent His own son to suffer on the cross for us that now He's okay with pagan practices?

And when ye spread forth your hands, I will hide mine eyes from you: yea, when ye make many prayers, I will not hear... Wash you, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil;
-Isaiah 1:15-16

Evil doesn't magically become good by slapping a Jesus label on it.

Even so every good tree bringeth forth good fruit; but a corrupt tree bringeth forth evil fruit.
-Matthew 7:17

Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter!
-Isaiah 5:20

What About Lent?

Since we're on the subject of calling evil good, Lent, as with other traditions, is CATHOLIC in origin, and if it comes from the bowels of the Catholic church, why would any Christian copy it? I would challenge any Christian to show me any place in Scripture where Lent was recognized and observed by the twelve Apostles and the first century Christians. Again, Paul warned us not to become observers of days and times, turning back into bondage. (Gal 4:9-11)

Then was Jesus led up of the Spirit into the wilderness to be tempted of the devil. And when he had fasted forty days and forty nights, he was afterward an hungred.
-Matthew 4:1-2

Lent is claimed to be a copy of the 40-day fast that Jesus Christ did in the wilderness, but this was not practiced by the early church, and there has never been a Biblical justification for observance of it.

I believe it's important to mention that true Biblical fasting is putting aside food to drink water only. This Biblical type of fasting is NOT observed by today's lazy, luke-warm churches. These Laodicean church buildings claim they're fasting during their Catholic-recognized Lent, but really what they do is give up chocolate, or TV, or chewing gum, or some other minor thing for 40 days. To actually have to skip a meal is unheard of in most churchianity circles. If these churches really wanted to copy Jesus Christ, then they would have nothing but water for 40 days, and very few people in this world are willing to do such a thing, but there is no tradition of observing a 40-day fast in the first place.
Egypt had an "Egyptian Lent" in which this fasting of one minor thing in particular was observed. Rome adopts the pagan tradition of the Egyptians, and then transfers that into the Catholic church, which attributes it to their false "jesus." The Egyptian tradition was in honor of Osiris, which is another name for Nimrod/Tammuz, the sun god of Babylonian culture.

(Read "Christmas: The Rejection of Jesus" here at creationliberty.com for more details.)

"In Egypt, there was a time of fasting for forty days during the Egyptian Lent. The mourning and the fasting naturally followed the suffering and the death of Osiris... But when the death was shifted to Easter, to be celebrated in accordance with the Jewish Passover, to which it was hitched on, the long time of fasting remained as in Egypt."

Though the Catholic Church likes to give the impression to the general public that Lent is a replication of Jesus in the wilderness, the reality is that their pagan church is copying fasting to Osiris/Nimrod/Tammuz, the sun god (also directly connected to Semiramis, the moon goddess of the Babylonians), and even some Catholics have been honest about this fact.

"Our State Church, like its Mother of Rome, is still busy with Lent superstitions, derived from Paganism... The forty days abstinence of Lent was borrowed from the worship of a Babylonian Goddess. The Yezidis, or devil worshippers of Koordistan, still observe it. Humboldt shows that Pagan Mexicans observed a Lent of forty days, beginning three days after the vernal equinox, in honour of the sun. The Egyptian Lent of forty days was in commemoration of Osiris. To allure the Pagans to an already corrupted Christianity, Rome took measures to amalgamate the Christian [i.e. Catholic] and Pagan Festivals. This was mainly accomplished by Dionysius the Little, about A.D. 525. The change of the calendar, in regard to Easter, brought into the so-called church the grosset Lent corruptions and superstitions; such as we see not in this country, nor in these days, and could not look upon without shame."
- David King (Catholic Author), The Ecclesiastical Observer: Fortnightly Journal and Review, Vol. 29, No. 1, Jan 1, 1876, p. 83

Just as Easter, Christians ought to be ashamed for upholding pagan traditions, but they instead glory themselves in it.

For many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ: Whose end is destruction, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is in their shame, who mind earthly things.
- Phillipians 3:18-19

There is a local church bulletin that we receive in the mail, and in 2014, they announced their gathering of all the churches in the area to celebrate the pagan Lent tradition:

"The Waldron Area Ministries invites you to experience Lent...
March 23rd - at Waldron Baptist Church, Preacher: Rev. Brandon Sutton (Blue Ridge Christian Union Church)
March 30th - at Rays Crossing Christian union Church, Preacher: Rev. Marcy Patrick [unbiblical FEMALE pastor] (Waldron United Methodist Church)
April 6th - at Little Blue River Baptist Church, Preacher: Rev. Alan Small (Interim at Waldron Baptist Church)
April 13 - at Waldron United Methodist Church, Preacher: Community Choir Cantata - "The Day He Wore My Crown"
April 18 (Good Friday) - at Mt. Pisgah Baptist Church, Musical Drama"
-Waldron Communicator, Vol. 8, No. 4, April 2014; Read "Reverend is an Unbiblical Title" and "Can Women Teach in Church?" here at creationliberty.com for more details.

Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage.
- Galatians 5:1

Assuming there are Christians in these church buildings, I pray our Lord Jesus Christ would rebuke them to righteousness and truth, to abandon their pagan practices and sanctify themselves.
As part of Lent, people participate in "Ash Wednesday," which is a process of taking some ash to form a cross-mark on one's forehead. These Catholic/Pagan-infested church buildings claim that they are "repenting in dust and ashes," however, this the complete OPPOSITE of what Jesus Christ told us to do.

Moreover when ye fast, be not, as the hypocrites, of a sad countenance: for they disfigure their faces, that they may appear unto men to fast. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward. But thou, when thou fastest, anoint thine head, and wash thy face: That thou appear not unto men to fast, but unto thy Father which is in secret: and thy Father, which seeth in secret, shall reward thee openly.

-Matthew 6:16-18

These hypocrites place ash on their foreheads, and they are disfiguring their faces with dirt, but Jesus Christ said to wash your face. These hypocrites also appear unto all men to fast, but Jesus Christ said it should all be done in secret. Not only are these hypocrites not doing a real fast (water only), but if we observe a particular time of the year to fast all at the same time, how could we hide it and keep it secret?

Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ; As obedient children, not fashioning yourselves according to the former lusts in your ignorance: But as he which hath called you is holy, sobe ye holy in all manner of conversation; Because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy.

-1 Peter 1:13-16

We cannot be sanctified in holiness to glorify the Lord Jesus Christ while acting against His Gospel; practicing paganism and teaching it to others.

Even the time-frame in which Easter is celebrated doesn't make any sense. Supposedly, according to churches who celebrate this perverted tradition, Jesus Christ was executed Friday evening (i.e. Good Friday), and is resurrected Sunday morning, but the Bible tells us:

For as Jonas was three days and three nights in the whale's belly; so shall the Son of man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth.

-Matthew 12:40

Jesus Christ's body was dead three days and three nights before he resurrected Himself, but church buildings only wait half this amount of time for their celebration. No where does the Bible say what day of the week this took place. If these churches really believe what they're doing is Biblical, then why don't they follow after the Bible and wait to celebrate until Monday night?

The reason the Bible is not followed for the time frame of Easter is because Christians do not look to the Word of God for guidance. They look to CATHOLIC TRADITION (i.e. the precepts of men) to tell them what to do and how to do it.

This people draweth nigh unto me with their mouth, and honoureth me with their lips; but their heart is far from me.

-Matthew 15:8

Wherefore the Lord said, Forasmuch as this people draw near me with their mouth, and with their lips do honour me, but have removed their heart far from me, and their fear toward me is taught by the precept of men:

-Isaiah 29:13
One of the reasons people hold on to their pagan traditions, and don't recognize them as evil, is because they study new-age versions of the Bible that corrupt God's Word. There are millions of books, websites, and videos telling people that Passover and Easter are one and the same, and that's typically how they are portrayed on most "Christian" websites out there. The sad part about this is that not only are they blind to the wickedness they participate in, but many of them turn around and attack the King James Bible on this issue.

"The word 'Easter' is only found in one scripture in the entire King James Bible. Other translations have thankfully corrected this mistake."

The King James Bible uses the term "Easter" in Acts 12, the only place in the Bible where the pagan celebration is mentioned. In new-age versions, they use the term "Passover," so let's take a look at this text carefully:

And when he had apprehended him, he put him in prison, and delivered him to four quaternions of soldiers to keep him; intending after Easter to bring him forth to the people.
-Acts 12:4

William Tyndale (1494–1536) is the man given credit with coining the word "Passover," because there was no single-word English equivalent at the time, and the Tyndale Bible, like the KJB, uses the word "Easter" in Acts 12:4.

TYNADEL BIBLE: "And when he had caught him he put him in preson and delyvered him to .iiii. quaternios of soudiers to be kepte entendynge after ester to brynge him forth to the people."

I've received numerous (and very arrogant) emails from self-proclaimed Christians trying to tell me that the KJB has a translation error in Acts 12:4, and others telling me they have degrees in Greek and the KJB is wrong. I don't care how much Greek somebody knows, and I don't care how well-studied someone thinks he is on this issue, I'm going to show Christians how God's Word proves the proper translation in Acts 12:4 is Easter, and new-age versions got it wrong.

(Read "Why I Use The King James Bible" here at creationliberty.com for more details.)

In the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month at even, ye shall eat unleavened bread, until the one and twentieth day of the month at even.
-Exodus 12:18

In the fourteenth day of the first month at even is the LORD'S passover.
-Leviticus 23:5

According to Scripture, the Jews were to kill a lamb and eat it on the celebration day (which Tyndale named) Passover (Nisan [Jewish Calendar] 14-21). For a full week after that, they were supposed to eat unleavened bread, and that week, the week AFTER Passover, is called the days of unleavened bread.

Seven days shall ye eat unleavened bread; even the first day ye shall put away leaven out of your houses: for whosoever eateth leavened bread from the first day until the seventh day, that soul shall be cut off from Israel.
-Exodus 12:15

The 14th of Nisan is "Passover," and the 15th-21st is "the feast of unleavened bread." The Bible clearly makes a distinction between the day of passover, and the days of unleavened bread. (Even new-age version readers should be able to understand this.) This is also contextual subject matter one must understand to see what Paul was talking about in 1Cr 5:

Purge out therefore the old leaven, that ye may be a new lump, as ye are unleavened. For even Christ our passover is sacrificed for us: Therefore let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth.
-1 Corinthians 5:7-8

This is not saying that we are to observe days and times (Gal 4:9-11), but that the Passover celebration was completed in Christ, and that we should purge out wickedness and inquity from His Church. With Christ, the Passover is finished, and now we are to be unleavened in Him, this dispensation being a representation of the feast of unleavened bread.

And on the fifteenth day of the same month is the feast of unleavened bread unto the LORD: seven days ye must eat unleavened bread.

-Leviticus 23:6

Of course, the new-age version user might come back and say "Aha! (Ps 40:15) It says seven days! And the 21-15 = 6! Therefore you're wrong!" In subtraction, you get a number distance from two different numbers, but when counting to six, people forget to count from zero.

"The Days of Unleavened Bread"

If a child is playing hide-and-seek, and they are going to count to ten, they typically start by counting "1," but the problem is that he/she skipped zero to one, so technically, the child only counted to nine, not to ten. When we count material objects, like apples or the fingers on your hand, the number represents a singular object, which means the object is represented directly by the number, but when dealing time (i.e. seconds or calendar days), the time represented by the equidistance between each number.

So we have eight days represented for this feast, the first day being Passover, and the following seven days being the days of unleavened bread. Now that we have proper contextual knowledge from God's Word, let's go back and analyze Acts 12:4 once more:

Now about that time Herod the king stretched forth his hands to vex certain of the church. And he killed James the brother of John with the sword. And because he saw it pleased the Jews, he proceeded further to take Peter also. (Then were the days of unleavened bread,) [i.e. Passover had already passed.] And when he had apprehended him, he put him in prison, and delivered him to four quaternions of soldiers to keep him; intending after Easter to bring him forth to the people.

-Acts 12:1-4

Any version that replaces Easter with "Passover" is in ERROR.

If Herod were to wait after Passover, as the new-age versions have inserted, then he would have waited another full year. That makes no sense because the Jews wanted him dead right then and there; however, there was a celebration going on at the same time that was a big party in the Roman Empire, and that was the Easter celebration. Herod didn't want to have to do work, and have his officers do a bunch of work, to interrupt their fun time pagan festival, so he waited until after Easter was over to appease the Jews.

It also doesn't make sense for Herod to put sixteen soldiers (four quaternions) to guard over one prison cell for an entire year. The only way this makes sense in the context of the Bible was if the celebration that was recorded here was the "Easter" celebration of the pagans in the Roman Empire.

You may run into some church-goers that will try to lie to you and tell you that the entire 8-day celebration was Passover, and not one day. If you see someone make that argument, ask them to show it to you in Scripture, so you can catch them in their lie because the Bible specifically points out that the Passover celebration is labeled as one day, and the days of unleavened bread is labeled separately.

And they departed from Rameses in the first month, on the fifteenth day of the first month; on the morrow after the passover the children of Israel went out with an high hand in the sight of all the Egyptians.

-Numbers 33:3
And they did eat of the old corn of the land on the morrow after the passover, unleavened cakes, and parched corn in the selfsame day.

- Joshua 5:11

It doesn't matter how many Christians want to try to argue with you that the word pascha means "passover," but that is NOT the proper translation in Acts 12:4, and the context of Scripture proves it. (i.e. God's Word says "passover" is wrong in Acts 12:4.)

The word pascha is used in Scripture 29 times, and of those 29, 28 are used for "passover," and only once for Easter, and many new-agers want to condemn the King James Bible over that point, but I want to point out that there is no Greek-equivalent word for Easter! Rome was celebrating their feasts at the same time the Jews were celebrating theirs, and when writing this down in Greek, there was no other word to use for that celebration at the time, except pascha, because the word "passover" will not have been invented for another 1500 years, and the word "Easter" will not be applied to the Roman celebration for a long time afterward.

The new-age scoffer will ignore you if you say this, repeating that pascha is NOT Greek word for Easter. So ask them: What is the Greek word for Easter then? They can't give you an answer because there isn't one.

To further demonstrate this point to those of you who want to learn the truth about this, and how many websites and books out there lie to people to say that pascha is not used as a word for Easter, I got to thinking that the Easter celebration is such a world-wide event, surely the Greeks must have some word they use for it. So I went to lexiqologos.com, which has a translator from English to Greek, and I decided to enter in the title of this article "Easter: Christians Celebrating Abomination," and let it translate the phrase, which you can see if you click this link: https://translate.google.com/?hl=en#en/el/Easter%3A%20Christians%20Celebrating%20Abomination
If you click the link and read how it came out, you should notice the word Πασχα is used for "Easter." Πασχα is Páscha. Despite what your Greek grammar dictionary says, when a Greek-speaking person wants to say "Easter," they use the word pascha.
(Read "How to Play The Greek Game" here at creationliberty.com for more details on why Christians should not rely on Greek grammar dictionaries and lexicons to interpret the Bible for them.)

Thus God has perfectly preserved His Word in the English for us. The new-age versions, by covering up Easter, are hiding the fact that Easter was a pagan celebration of the heathen, and it helps keep Christians ignorant of the truth.

Those who use a Geneva Bible have also written us in attempt to attack the KJB on this issue. William Tyndale (aforementioned) influenced about 80% of the Geneva Bible, but those who worked on the GB chose to change the word "Easter" to "Passover."

GENEVA BIBLE: "And when he had caught him, he put him in prison, and delivered him to four quaternions of soldiers to be kept, intending after the Passover to bring him forth to the people."

GB-users believe Passover to be correct despite the direct Scriptural contradiction. To put it bluntly, the Geneva Bible is WRONG in Acts 12:4, and this why I tell GB-users that they ought to get themselves a KJB.

The new-age versions are in error, just like most Christians out there, and I pray they would have their eyes opened and pick up a Bible without error. Many of us have used bad versions as new Christians, but once we learn the truth, we have a responsibility to put down the bad texts, and pick up the preserved Word of God.
(Read "Why I Use The King James Bible" here at creationliberty.com for more details.)

A few years ago, around Easter time, I had an elderly woman say to me, "You must be very busy with the 'Holy Days' this weekend." She is the elder of a baptist church down the road from where we live (unbiblically, because women are not permitted to be elders in Scripture), and it's the same church we've had to rebuke for their practices of Halloween. It's sickening that this Christian woman would have such lack of discernment to associate the word "holy," a word reserved for the Lord Jesus Christ, and apply it to a disgusting pagan festival of witches.
Are we doing what Christ wants according to His Word?
Or are we just doing what feels good to us?

If we are truly born-again in Christ, we should not be children in our understanding. We need to be adults when addressing these subjects.

Brethren, be not children in understanding: howbeit in malice be ye children, but in understanding be men.
-1 Corinthians 14:20

Are you celebrating Easter because it seems right in your own eyes?
Or is the Word of God the standard by which you make decisions in spiritual matters?

Ye shall not do after all the things that we do here this day, every man whatsoever is right in his own eyes.
-Deuteronomy 12:8

The way of a fool is right in his own eyes: but he that hearkeneth unto counsel is wise.
-Proverbs 12:15

Are you celebrating Easter because it feels good in your heart?
Or do we look to the Word of God to tell us what to do?

The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked: who can know it?
-Jeremiah 17:9

Every way of a man is right in his own eyes: but the LORD pondereth the hearts.
-Proverbs 21:2

Are you celebrating Easter because of your church building tradition?
Or do you follow the Lord Jesus Christ in all matters?

As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in him: Rooted and built up in him, and stablished in the faith, as ye have been taught, abounding therein with thanksgiving. Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ.
-Colossians 2:6-8

Making the word of God of none effect through your tradition, which ye have delivered: and many such like things do ye.
-Mark 7:13

Those still celebrating Easter, if they will be honest with themselves, they are looking for excuses to justify themselves in darkness instead of choosing to sanctify themselves.

And he said unto them, Ye are they which justify yourselves before men; but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly esteemed among men is abomination in the sight of God.
-Luke 16:15

But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, a peculiar people; that ye should shew forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light:
-1 Peter 2:9

Where is the discernment of Christians to stand up for what's right and purge the evil leaven (like Easter) out of the Body of Christ? When will they stop teaching the way of the heathen to these children?
Purge out therefore the old leaven, that ye may be a new lump, as ye are unleavened. For even Christ our passover is sacrificed for us:
-1 Corinthians 5:7

But strong meat belongeth to them that are of full age, even those who by reason of use have their senses exercised to discern both good and evil.
-Hebrews 5:14

Our salvation is not based on our works, or in other words, you don't go to hell because you participated in an Easter celebration or event. However, when we practice pagan rituals, we're practicing the paganism of witches, and when we do works of iniquity, we run the risk of bringing curses upon ourselves, our family, and our homes because when we sow wicked deeds, we will reap the same.

Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting.
-Galatians 6:8

I've witnessed a number of Christians that believe that because their souls are saved, therefore, they have nothing else to lose. You can lose your health, your home, your family, and there's also rewards in heaven to consider, which is why Our Heavenly Father, if we are really His children, loves us enough to chasten us when we do wickedness.

Thou shalt also consider in thine heart, that, as a man chasteneth his son, so the LORD thy God chasteneth thee.
-Deuteronomy 8:5

For whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth, and scourgeth every son whom he receiveth.
-Hebrews 12:6

I pray Christians would hear the Word of God and take caution to sanctify themselves from pagan rituals like Easter.

Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness? And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what part hath he that believeth with an infidel? And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols? for ye are the temple of the living God; as God hath said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people. Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, And will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty.
-2 Corinthians 6:14-18

A Witch Writes CLE About This Article

I had a witch write us in 2014 about our expose on Easter, and here's what she wrote:

"Hello, Mr. Johnson, my name is Patricia and I just wanted to take a moment to thank you for all the research and time you spent learning the true origins of these 'Christian' holidays, and then making the effort to get this information to a wider audience. It is rather frustrating to see so many Christians celebrating Christ with all these pagan symbols that they don't understand. I myself am familiar with much of this information, so it is quite a relief to see it posted on a website such as this, as opposed to only seeing it on pro-pagan blogs where Christians rarely venture. It's also nice to see a web article where you know the author is educated enough on the topic to post the citations where he got all the information instead of merely typing his opinion and making others guess whether or not his information is credible."
It's sad that I get better compliments about the research I've done on Easter from a witch than I've received from Christians. I have a hard time getting Christians to read one word of this article. But before anyone thinks I'm not being hated by the world, let's keep reading.

"Still, there is something that I am a bit confused about and wanted to ask you. The rituals that these people once performed all seemed to stem from the idea of rebirth and the returning of the light. They celebrate with brightly colored eggs and bunny rabbits to symbolize fertility and new life coming into the world, when all the animals would have their babies and the plants grew green again after the long winter. I just wanted to know why those things were so bad to celebrate."

I already explained why they're evil. She just doesn't like the explanation, and you'll see her say that in a moment.

So most born-again Christians can probably see where this witch is about to go with this message. On the one hand, she has explained to me how thoroughly researched and accurate the article is, but on the other hand, she hates it when someone rebukes her heathen witchcraft.

What's interesting is that this witch tries to justify pagan ritual is the EXACT SAME WAY church-goers try to justify it: by their feelings.

"The people back then feared the cold winters, feared there would not be enough food to make it through, feared that the cold would kill them, their family, and their friends. Wouldn't a celebration of returning abundance and warmth be called for? I just don't understand why that was so wicked, and why pagans where evil."

She won't accept her deeds as evil, because she doesn't feel like their evil. Her moral judgment comes down to her personal feelings, which is fickle and logically fallacious in every sense. I've had live podcast conversations with atheists about this very topic, and they try to handle morality in the exact same way.

(Read "Atheists Can't Justify Morality" here at creationliberty.com for more details.)

The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom: a good understanding have all they that do his commandments: his praise endureth for ever.

- Psalm 111:10

Just as an atheist, the pagan holds their mind and their heart as the final authority for all moral action. It's all based on their feelings. I explained the Scripture in this article, and why witchcraft is evil, but she simply hates that the Bible condemns it.

"I must be frank with you, Mr. Johnson. Yes, your article truthfully points out the origins of Easter and why it is pagan at its heart and uses pagan symbolism, but the approach you took on the topic was extremely offensive."

I've talked with many people, and have had many of them tell me how offended they were after I told them they were guilty of breaking God's Laws. Of course, the truth is going to be offensive, and it's humorous how many people think I'm not aware of it.

Then shall they deliver you up to be afflicted, and shall kill you: and ye shall be hated of all nations for my name's sake. And then shall many be offended, and shall betray one another, and shall hate one another.

- Matthew 24:9-10

We are commanded to be salt, and salt irritates wounds:

Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thencethrough good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men.

- Matthew 5:13

If you're a born-again Christian, and you're not irritating people by the teaching of the Word of God, you're doing something wrong.

"You can write on and on about paganism being evil because 'they gasp celebrate fertility! And the rebirth of spring and light! And the changing of the seasons! And wait, they have a goddess AND a god that are equal in every way and show that feminine qualities are just as important as masculine ones?! Wait, why is that a bad thing? Oh, it says so in this book!' That's great, but you'll find that others see Christianity as that religion that killed hundreds of thousands of people. Why? Because their god told them to."

Even though I explained how Catholicism is not part of Christianity, this witch still believes the lie. They say they're Christians, so she automatically believes what she's told, even though hypocritically, she doesn't like it when church-goers automatically believe when they're told her pagan rituals are "Christian."

Though she lies to tell people that God "told them" [i.e. Catholics] to kill "hundreds of thousands of people," Christ actually told us the opposite:

For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war after the flesh: (For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds;) Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ;

-2 Corinthians 10:3-5

That's why the Roman Catholic Church took great pains to keep people from being able to read the Word of God, because they didn't want people to know they had no authority to torture and murder people for their wicked pope. The Catholic Church even put the Bible on a banned reading material list at one time.

(Read "Why I Use The King James Bible - Where Bible Versions Come From" here at creationliberty.com for more details.)

In the end, she hates the Bible, because she hates the Christian God of the Bible. Just as the atheist and evolutionist, if she can use the lies of Catholicism as an excuse to run from the Christian God of the Bible, she'll take it.

"But this book says it's right, so...it must be right and everything else must be wrong. Now, how did it feel reading that opinion, Mr. Johnson? Do you feel your faith in humanity slipping as people attack your faith, the thing you hold above everything else?"

How did I feel? Blessed.

Blessed are ye, when men shall hate you, and when they shall separate you from their company, and shall reproach you, and cast out your name as evil, for the Son of man's sake.

-Luke 6:22

She's doing the exact same thing she's accusing me of doing; only I told her what the Lord God has said, and she's telling me her personal opinion.

"I just wanted you to know what your article is hurtful, and I hope one day you gain some perspective, along with some religious tolerance. And in a perfect world, consider uploading an apology."

I don't apologize for the truth. And I find it fascinating that she claims I'm intolerant to worldly religions.

tolerate (v): to suffer to be or to be done without prohibition or hinderance; to allow or permit negatively, by not preventing (See 'tolerance', American Dictionary of the English Language, Noah Webster, 1828, retrieved Feb 28, 2015 [webstersdictionary1828.com])

I would like her to show me one time I ever prevented her from practicing witchcraft. I never once said in this article that people can't practice witchcraft. I pointed out that it is sin in the sight of God, and she took offense to that because she's dedicated her life to her sinful craft.

I tolerate her paganism all the time when I go out of my home to work. I have to put up with pagan holiday expressions and decorations all the time. But what this witch really wants is acceptance.

accept (v): to consent or agree to (See 'accept', American Dictionary of the English Language, Noah Webster, 1828, retrieved Feb 28, 2015 [webstersdictionary1828.com])

I will not accept (consent or agree to) paganism and witchcraft. Period. The Word of God has condemned them, and make effort to love the things He loves, and hate the things He hates, and He hates the ways of the heathen. I tolerate the heathen rituals all the time when I go out into town, but I will not tolerate it in my home, nor in the Body of Christ, and this woman is a hypocrite because she won't tolerate the rebuke from the Word of God in her home; she can't even hardly tolerate reading the Word of God on this website, let alone accept it into her home and life, but she expects others to tolerate and accept her witchcraft.

I will tell everyone reading this the same thing I told her:

Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry, witchcraft... they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God.

- Galatians 5:20-21

Get angry with me all you want. Call me all the names you wish. Cast all the spells you desire. Pray to all the false gods you choose -- None of it will save you from the Judgment of the True Living God.

And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment:

- Hebrews 9:27

You're guilty of breaking God's Laws, and He puts an eternal penalty as the punishment for those crimes, and no one else in this world can pay your eternal penalty because they each owe his/her own. There's only one way out; click here to learn more.

Why Do We Celebrate April Fool’s Day?

April Fools' Day is celebrated for pagan reasons as well. Prior to the 16th century, European countries celebrated the New Year's Day on April 1st:

"In 16th-century France, the start of the new year was observed on April 1st. It was celebrated like our New Year's Eve is celebrated today. In 1562, however, Pope Gregory introduced a new calendar for the Christian [i.e. Catholic] world, and the new year then fell on January 1st."

Unsurprisingly, the Catholic church is involved, once again, in pagan activity. The New Year was in April, which was also about the same time that God declared the first month to the Jews. Pope Gregory XIII moved the New Year celebration so it would not interfere with the pagan celebration of Easter, and then spread propaganda to bully people into the new decree:

"There were some people, though, who hadn't heard about the new date for New Year's, or who didn't believe it. They continued to celebrate New Year's Day on April 1st. Other people thought that this was worthy of fun, and so played tricks on those April New Year's revellers, calling them 'April fools.'"

"April Fools' Day started because New Year's Day fell during Easter week. That may sound like nonsense, but those are the facts."

So in a nutshell, the Catholic church wanted to spread out the pagan celebrations, and placed New Year's Day the week after their pagan Christmas celebration, which did not move around based on the full moon. They then spread the tradition of labeling anyone a fool who would not recognize Catholic authority for changing the dates, and those who carry on the tradition of April Fools' Day also carry on observing Catholic decrees.
